COPYRIGHT ACT OF MARCH 4, 1909.

Provision for the Renewal and Extension of Existing Copyright.

SEC. 24. That the copyright subsisting in any work at the time when this Act goes into effect may, at the expiration of the term provided for under existing law, be renewed and extended by the author of such work if still living, or the widow, widower, or children of the author, if the author be not living, or if such author, widow, widower, or children be not living, then by the author's executors or in the absence of a will, his next of kin, for a further period such that the entire term shall be equal to that secured by this Act, including the renewal period: Provided, however, That if the work be a composite work upon which copyright was originally secured by the proprietor thereof, then such proprietor shall be entitled to the privilege of renewal and extension granted under this section: Provided, That application for such renewal and extension shall be made to the Copyright Office and duly registered therein within one year prior to the expiration of the existing term.

Gentlemen:

Your applications for registration of the renewal of copyright in Webb's Peninsular Campaign and Ropes' Army under Pope did not arrive in this office until November 18.

The original copyright, according to the applications and the records of this office, in the case of each book, expires on November 17, 1909. Section 24 of the copyright law now in force, under which action must be taken at the present time for the renewal and extension of copyrightz, provides that the application required for such renewal and extension "shall be made to the copyright office and duly registered therein within one year prior to the expiration of the existing term."

Unfortunately, therefore, your application is one day too late. Can you offer any ground upon which registration would be permissible, in view of the explicit language of section 24 referred to.

Respectfully,

Register of Copyrights.

Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

We are in receipt of your courteous letter of the 8th in regard to the renewal of copyright of Webb's Peninsular Campaign" and Ropes' "Army under Pope." The letter containing these applications was mailed at the Madison Square Branch of the New York post office between 10:30 and 11 o" clock on the morning of November 16th. It is our custom to send our mail to the Post office by our boys five times a day, the first leaving our office at 10:30 A.M. and these renewals were sent out by the first boy.

We thank you for the interest and attention you have given this matter and beg to remain,

Yours truly,

Charles Scribner's Sons

COPYRIGHT ACT OF MARCH 4, 1909.

Provision for the Renewal and Extension of Existing Copyright.

Sec. 24. That the copyright subsisting in any work at the time when this Act goes into effect may, at the expiration of the term provided for under existing law, be renewed and extended by the author of such work if still living, or the widow, widower, or children of the author, if the author be not living, or if such author, widow, widower, or children be not living, then by the author's executors, or in the absence of a will, his next of kin, for a further period such that the entire term shall be equal to that secured by this Act, including the renewal period: Provided, however, That if the work be a composite work upon which copyright was originally secured by the proprietor thereof, then such proprietor shall be entitled to the privilege of renewal and extension granted under this section: Provided, That application for such renewal and extension shall be made to the Copyright Office and duly registered therein within one year prior to the expiration of the existing term.

Application for an EXTENSION of a renewal copyright should be made on an R2 blank.

Application for RENEWAL can only be made during the LAST YEAR of the present copyright. R 1*
